

Taylor is 10 years old and has been modeling since the age of 2. She caught her first taste of the acting bug at the age of 6 when she starred in an Artstage production called "Stump the Genius" where she played a 5 year old whiz kid. From that moment on, she knew she wanted to be an actress! She has since gone on to do 25 commercials, 5 films, and hundreds of print campaigns for everything from Target to Brookstone to Child Magazine. She can be seen in a Superbowl commercial with Shaq, and most recently, on an episode of One Tree Hill.

Taylor lives in Jupiter with her parents and two younger brothers, Owen and Charlie. She is excited to be a part of history with a role in Turkles and is equally excited about doing a film right here in her own backyard! She is very thankful that Frank gave her this opportunity and can't wait to work with such a talented cast and crew!
